CVSN Adds DeCarolis Heavy Duty Parts to its list of Quality Member Companies

(Jacksonville, FL - May 7, 2019) - CVSN is proud to announce that DeCarolis Heavy Duty Parts is the newest member of the association.

DeCarolis Heavy Duty started in 1938 when Louis DeCarolis, Sr., bought a truck and used it to transport day laborers to and from farmers’ fields. It did not take long before he was asked to haul the produce to the processing plants. Out of these modest beginnings, he created a small carting company in 1938, known as DeCarolis Trucking Company, and set in place a plan to add other transportation services.

Routinely recognized by The Rochester Business Journal's RBJ75 which recognizes the top 75 local businesses and organizations in the area, DeCarolis’ mission is to provide and maintain commercial vehicles for business. A member of HDA Truck Pride, DeCarolis is a full-service truck leasing and rental business serving Upstate New York. “We work on vehicles all day, and we want them running so your business can rely on them”. DeCarolis’ top-notch customer service experience is what sets them apart from the rest.

DeCarolis’ general manager Greg Rawleigh said “one takeaway for joining CVSN it to get more involved with CVSN’s training and networking”

CVSN Executive Vice President, Angelo Volpe said, “it is an honor for CVSN to welcome DeCarolis to our industry family. Strong and committed companies like DeCarolis who want to keep their employees trained on the latest technology and parts and show they still value the power of strong relationships in or industry says a lot of their organizational values. Relationship building is still a vital component to the future success of a company in our business today.”
